

Robin Blackwood has been an active advocate for people living with disabilities since 2011 when her son was diagnosed with Fragile X Syndrome. She grew up in Orangeburg, SC, graduated from the University of South Carolina with a bachelor's degree in Mass Communications and Information Studies and has lived in Greenville since 1997. She owns Blackwood PR and is skilled in public relations, marketing and corporate communications. A graduate of SC Partners in Policymaking, Robin is actively involved in the following organizations: The Barbara Stone Foundation, Greenville Collaborative Action Network (CAN), Disability Rights of SC, Stone Academy, The Washington Center and Prisma Health Children's Hospital Community Advisory Council. Robin enjoys the beaches of SC, spending time with friends and family and helping others understand the challenges of those living with an intellectual disability.
